PRODUCT OVERVIEW Page 120

XENO²

Robin Platt has worked with industrial ceramics for almost 15 years. His clients have included glass and tableware manufacturers Rosenthal and WMF, and his creations have seen service with Lufthansa. He has won many awards and has various ceramic designs in the V&A Museum, London. With experience in both product and furniture design, creating a bathroom series has felt like a natural progression.

With Xeno², an architecturally clear shape is combined with the power of nature. At first glance, it looks simple. But on closer inspection, you discover its emotional and exciting side. The ceramic design surprises with its geometric precision in the form of a gently flowing inner basin that appears as though it has been carved out by water over centuries. Perfect in combination with the finest linear bathroom furniture. Xeno²: natural, serene style.

Innovations

Innovations are the best ideas in the world. They originate in visions of an easier, more pleasant life. They spur us on to look for new ways of pushing back the limits of what is known and, eventually, to writing a new chapter of the future. Keramag's innovative strength can be seen in patents such as the Clou system, which combines an aesthetically smooth ceramic surface with no overflow hole make life easier
